Boost for interdisciplinary energy transition research

A new research priority area: "Energy transition through the lens of SDGs" is about to start. It aims to stimulate cross-faculty collaboration by uniting researchers working on economic, environmental, technological, social, political, and business aspects of the energy system, the energy transition, and SDGs. The group will regularly come together at IAS.

Meet guest researcher: Adam Kola

Adam Kola has received a scholarship from the Polish National Agency for Academic Exchange to work this year at IAS. He aims to map and model multidirectional knowledge transfer from Eastern and Central Europe in 1918-1968 to find out whether complexity methods can be a remedy for the weaknesses of "presumptive history".

New member of our Management Team

We are happy to announce that Annemarie van Wezel has joined our Management Team. She has gained extensive experience with transdisciplinary research, working on various environmental issues together with academics from all fields and external stakeholders. She will represent the formal and natural sciences in the team.

New edition of IAS Review

We are proud to present the second edition of our overlay journal "IAS Review". It consists of nine selected papers on interdisciplinary research topics, recently published by members of our community. Each paper includes a short reflection by the author on the relevance of the paper in the context of IAS, making it more easily accessible to researchers from other fields.
