New AI groups hosted at IAS

Starting in June, every Tuesday IAS will host varying groups of researchers interested in the challenges and implications of the digital transition. This will include members of the AI, Media & Democracy Lab, the RPA Human(e) AI and others interested in collaborating. The group will be convened by the group of UvA's AI University Professors, facilitated by Claes de Vreese and Natali Helberger who are also part of a larger research consortium 'The algorithmic society'.

Cooperation Agreement between the UvA and CBS

On May 31st UvA and Statistics Netherlands (CBS) renewed their Cooperation Agreement. During the day at IAS the core team looked back at the first years of successful collaboration. They celebrated the successes already achieved and looked ahead together to strengthen the existing collaboration and explored the involvement of possible new participants.

ERC Advanced Grant for Han van der Maas

UvA professor and IAS Management Team member Han van der Maas has received the European Research Council (ERC) Advanced Grant. The project is highly interdisciplinary and expected to stimulate future scientific research on cascading transitions in other disciplines, such as climate research, and to have a significant impact on practices in conflict management, healthcare, and education.
